Many Voices, Many Journeys An Anthology of Stories by Aboriginal Teachers

A CALL FOR STORIES

The Canadian Teachers' Federation invites Aboriginal teachers to submit stories, poetry, plays or essays for an anthology entitled Many Voices, Many Journeys. We hope that this anthology will highlight issues, concerns, challenges and successes of Aboriginal teachers in Canada. It may also illustrate the diversity of Aboriginal teachers, provide information and help to educate non-Aboriginal people, provide a historical perspective, and encourage potential Aboriginal teachers.

Criteria for submission:

- The entries should be based on personal experience and may be in the form of a story, essay, poem or play.
- Length of submission should be between 1,500 and 3,000 words (submitted electronically if possible).
- Possible basis for the writing may include a personal educational experience, teachings of a mentor, influence of a powerful teacher, a significant life experience, a barrier or obstacle overcome, etc.
- Writers are encouraged to include pertinent photos, graphics or artwork.
- Include a short (50 to 100 word) biography.
